POLITICAL SCIENCE, M.A.

Credits: 30 CIP Code: 451001

Program Overview

For the M.A. degree in political science, the Department requires a minimum of twenty-four (24) graduate hours, attendance at the weekly Departmental Seminar and a thesis. A final oral examination of the thesis and courses taken by the student is required. Blacks and the American Political System, Scope and Methods of Political Inquiry courses are required of all students pursuing the Master of Arts degree in Political Science. Students will select other courses according to their research interests.

Admissions Requirements

In addition to the General Admissions Requirements as published in this Catalog, applicants to the Master of Arts Degree in Political Science must have been awarded a Bachelor's degree with a major in Political Science from a regionally accredited four-year college or university with a minimum cumulative grade point average of 3.0. Consideration may be given to other applicants whose academic preparation in related social sciences suggests that they are capable of successfully pursuing the Master of Arts Degree in Political Science. The Graduate Records Examination (GRE) is required.

Program Objectives

- Present major theories, concepts, systems, and methodologies used in the study of politics and international relations.
- Discuss the foundations, institutions, processes and values that shape politics within and among states and the world and emphasize the importance of political engagement.
- Prepare students to explore issues or problems in national and global political systems.
- Apply key analytic and theoretical frameworks to sub-fields of political science to formulate hypotheses, research questions and evaluate arguments based on these frameworks.
- Prepare students for advanced studies and careers in political science or related fields.

Student Learning Outcomes

Students pursuing the Master of Arts Degree in Political Science will:

- Identify and analyze the structure and operation of the U.S. and other political systems.
- Construct and evaluate analytical and logical arguments in national and global politics.
- 3. Communicate effectively in oral and written formats issues on political systems to diverse audiences.
- Explore the theoretical and practical values of national and international political systems, political engagement, and global citizenship.
- 5. Identify and gather information from credible primary and secondary sources to conduct qualitative and/or quantitative research.

Degree Requirements

In addition to the General Degree Requirements as published in this Catalog, students pursuing the Master of Arts Degree in Political Science must complete a minimum of thirty (30) graduate credits of coursework including six (6) graduate credits in Thesis Research.

Departmental Seminar

The Department of Political Science Graduate Seminar is a long-standing tradition that is central to the vision and mission of the graduate program. The Departmental Seminar brings together all faculty and students in a mandatory weekly discussion that includes:

- · Departmental orientation
- An exchange of ideas and understandings about political theory, praxis, and contemporary issues often with invited guests.
- · Presentations of faculty and student research
- · Student organization meetings

Departmental Seminar attendance is mandatory. Students in the M.A. program are required to attend until the formal acceptance of their thesis proposal. Master's students must attend at the very minimum two (2) full semesters of the Departmental Seminar. Students receiving extended financial support beyond the completion of coursework or the formal acceptance master's thesis proposal may be required to attend additional semesters of the Departmental Seminar.

Research Tool

Candidates for the Master of Arts degree must demonstrate proficiency in the use of one research tool from among the following: a foreign language, statistical analysis, or computer information systems. Each student in consultation with their adviser will decide which research tool will best facilitate their program of study. The research tool is not counted among the total required political science courses (24).

Master's Thesis: 6 Credits

All students pursuing the Master of Arts degree in Political Science must complete a scholarly analysis and presentation of a significant research problem in political science. As a preliminary phase to this process, each candidate must fully constitute a thesis committee and submit and orally defend a thesis proposal that outlines the methodological procedures and theoretical framework that will be employed in completing the proposed research. Students must enroll in at least six (6) hours of thesis research or consultation courses. Six (6) hours thereof will be awarded upon completion of the thesis

Code	Title	Hours
